Columbia Man Gains 24 Pounds On Tanlac

ATLANTIC COAST LINE YARD FOREMAN GIVEN REMARKABLE RESULTS.

Though he had been almost constantly under treatment for four months, and intermittently during the previous two years, and though he had wasted away until he was hardly more than skin and bones, and could hardly walk because of his weakness, G. G. Anderson, of 900 Whaley St., yard foreman for the Atlantic Coast Line railway, gained 24 pounds on seven bottles of Tanlac and was restored to good health, according to the statement he recently gave in endorsement of "the master medicine." His statement follows:

"I suffered from a greatly run down and weakened condition. I had been in very bad health for several years, and just before I began to take Tanlac I had been continuously under medical treatment for four months. I was told I had nervous indigestion.

"For almost two years I had been so weak I could hardly work. I was just skin and bones, I was in such bad health, and I scarcely ever ate more than a few bites at a meal. I was in bad shape. One time, shortly before I began taking Tanlac, I was under treatment continuously for 21 weeks and steadily got worse. I just could not eat, and what little I did force down hurt me and caused me to feel puffed up and gave me a severe pain in my chest. My nerves were very bad, too. Really, I was just about past going at all.

"I had read about Tanlac, and finally I lost heart in the treatment I was under and began taking Tanlac.

"The relief Tanlac gave me was as follows: I took seven bottles and gained 24 pounds. I picked up right away and added a lot of strength. When the seventh bottle was gone I was really a new man in health and strength. I did not begin to feel much better until I had taken the second bottle of Tanlac, but then I went up right along in strength and weight. Soon I was eating three big meals a day, so great an improvement did Tanlac make in the condition of my stomach.

"I quit taking Tanlac in May and I feel fine now, and I have been a different man ever since Tanlac built me up.

"I am glad to recommend Tanlac and to give you this endorsement, for it may help others to find a way to regain their health. I sure can recommend Tanlac highly, for I do not know of a better stomach remedy, and I have spent many dollars for many kinds of stomach remedies that did me no good."

Tanlac, the master medicine, is sold exclusively by P. B. Speed, Abbeville; J. H. Bell & Sons, Due West; Cooley & Speer, Lowndesville; J. W. Morrah & Son, Mount Carmel; R. M. Fuller & Co., McCormick; Covin & Leroy, Willington; J. T. Black, Calhoun Falls. Price $1 per bottle straight.—Adv.

THE GOVERNMENT WILL SUPPLY CULTURE

Each Farmer Can Get Enough To Inoculate Two Bushels of Any Legume.

Mr. Editor:

Since we have been visited by an excellent rain, leaving a high season in the soil, the time for sowing Crimson Clover has arrived and since there have been 8 or 9 thousand pounds of Crimson Clover seed purchased and saved by the farmers of the County for fall sowing, I wish to urge every farmer who has his seed and culture with which to inoculate his seed to prepare immediately to get his seed in the soil.

Crimson Clover should be sown from Sept. 15th to Oct. 10th. To insure a good growth the first year, by all means, inoculate your seed, however, if the soil is full of stable manure, excellent results can be had without the inoculation, yet the Government will give each farmer sufficient culture to inoculate two bushels of any particular legume, furthermore, any farmer who has been growing Crimson Clover successfully will be only too glad to give his neighbor soil enough to inoculate well the seed that he proposes to sow.

Full directions will be given on each bottle of culture as to how the seed should be treated, therefore, what I have to say relates to soil inoculation and how the soil should be manipulated.

In the process of handling the soil, be careful not to let it be exposed to the action of the sun longer than 15 minutes, as the heat of the sun kills the bacteria and a weak inoculation and small growth will be the result, therefore, when hauling the inoculated soil from your neighbor's farm take an old sheet of some sort along and cover the soil. Don't use less than 500 or 600 lbs. of the inoculated soil to the acre, the more the better. In addition to applying the above amount broadcast, still better results can be had by using equal parts of molasses and water, sprinkle the seed until sticky, then sift the inoculated soil on seed, stir thoroughly until each seed has a good coating of soil. This process simplifies the sowing very much and the seed can be sown more uniformly.

In the process of broadcasting the inoculated soil and seed, the same precaution relative to the sunlight should be maintained. That is, cover the soil and seed promptly.

As to the seed bed, Clover requires a firm seed bed, therefore, don't make the mistake of turning the land thinking that you must have a good, deep, pulverized seed bed. Pea stubble, corn or cotton middles furnish an ideal seed bed. Use a drag harrow, spring tooth cultivator or the Joe harrow in covering the seed.

If you have any of the following clovers growing on your premises, there is no need of going elsewhere for inoculation for Crimson Clover, as these carry the same bacteria as does Crimson Clover, Red Clover, alsike clover, white clover and hop clover.

Vetches, Canadian field peas and garden peas will inoculate one another.

Very respectfully,
J. E. Cheatham.
